love yo neighbor as yo self

last month, yo neighbor was the focus, in a round about way. now we will look at the 'as yo self' portion, ok?

buttz this look/see is 'multi task'ns.' what that means is, biz/capitalism/services, etc.S> yo neighbor in conjunctions w/any of the afore mentionables.

watched the 'cinema' flick tonight, and saw the room full of telephone operators; circa 40s +/-, and ol' jucies started flow'n, big timez. biz is biz, capitalism is capitalism, and they are really like oil and water, they dooz NOT mix. capitalism is always about the bottom line, "ONLY." <always and forever.

on the other hand, biz is about service to customers, on a one on one basis; "repeat harmonious, and beneficial for both labor and management.

and as most y'all yahoos know, lots talk radio try to mentions, frequently, certain sectors of work force "not" produce anythink. on that score, please tell me whatz talk radio produces, except political stuffs, to the extreme, most times.

probably 80/90% of global population not give a shitz 'bout politics. <busy try'n make a life, like ole dummy did, just get'n started, young family - kids/wife, family, church, golf, vacations, ski'n @ lake w/kids and their friends (drink few long necks and lots gin/tonics {summer timez}), who gives a shit 'bout people in office; prayed for them'uns, in office, during Sunday church service; early chuch, mor golfS. :-) business." satisfied customers keeps small business customers coming back, always, without fail. not satisfied, 'see ya later, gator.'

and over the course of time, mechanization will always take center stage, in capitalztionS. assembly line workers replaced with automated robots, as one example. and as long as we stay the course, of the current trajectory of this world, it will always get worse. the main example of that is, look what the computer has done to the work force, per-se.

productivity has increased probably ten fold, or more, which means that only one in ten are needed in the secretarial pools, that were needed say, fifty years ago.

soz, mankind will always be finding ways to reduce the labor pool, in its organizations (global corporations), unless they are combo'd w/GOD, which will try to find ways to mix the two, with a balance that is buttz unless we unite in PRAYER, with GOD, we will be in for a new SHOCK.

only ps: is "personal inventory time." :-)
